GSU Football Brings Fan Fest to Savannah Before Game Week

By: Ethan Smith, Section Editor

Georgia Southern Athletics is once again bringing the Eagle Fan Fest to Armstrong this Friday, August 24. The event was hosted at Armstrong last year as well and garnered a substantial turn-out of students including students from Savannah.

Georgia Southern's football team as well as the Southern Pride marching band, Gus, Freedom and the GSU cheerleaders were all in attendance last year and are expected to be back again this year.

Redshirt freshman, Grant Walker, and freshman, Brandon Cross, are among some of Georgia Southern's talent, new player base. You can see them play for yourself at Fan Fest. Kado Brown and Monteeo Garrett are also some names among the returning seniors that are looking to make their last season memorable at GSU.

The event will feature inflatables, corn hole and Savannahian food trucks. Giveaways will also be involved throughout the duration of the event and all students who attend will receive a free t-shirt. 2018 Eagle Football posters will also be handed out as players and coach Lunsford will sign autographs before they head back to Statesboro. The event begins at 6pm at the Armstrong soccer field.

Nick Shrader Answers About Windward Commons Situation

By: Ethan Smith

As many of you already know, the west end of Windward Commons closed down for this semester. The reasoning behind the closing of the west end of Windward has been up in the air, but many have speculated it is due to low enrollment. I got the chance to contact the Director of Residence Life, Nick Shrader, and ask him some questions about the current state of Windward Commons.

Are any incoming students staying in west wing? With that side of the building being closed, will those students be moved to new room assignments?

Based on our assignment process

“Lady and the Tramp” Remake Begins Filming in September

By: Ethan Smith

Here’s news for all of you Disney fans here in Savannah. Get ready for this one! Savannah has been dubbed as one of the filming locations for the upcoming live-action remake of the Disney classic, “Lady and the Tramp”.

Filming for the movie is expected to start in early September and end right before Thanksgiving. The casting call was held at the Savannah Civic Center last week and gained overwhelming success with the line weaving several times around the building.

The director of the movie, Charlie Bean, has given the city of Savannah numerous compliments and praise and has also stated that he can’t wait for filming to begin.

As for logistics, most of Johnson Square will be shut down for about one to three days while Wright Square and the streets around it are expected to be off limits for about six days during filming at the locations. Wet Willie’s will also serve as a part of the and numbers of freshmen requesting to live on campus there is not a need at this time to occupy the west side of the building. By keeping them together and not separating them by wings, this also allows residents to build a stronger community in Windward. In this way we will focus more resources and services in order to ensure they have a great experience.

How will Resident Assistants be affected by the closed wing? Will they have more tasks or will their individual and team duties change?

The building is not closed. Only one wing is not being used. RA roles have shifted to also include supporting University Housing in other areas such as more administrative duties and assisting in supporting duty coverage for campus. We have even added staffing in the form of graduate students to better support the student residential experience.

What does the enrollment for incoming students look like in terms of staying on-campus in Windward or commuting as an off-campus student?

A large number of our first-year students this year are from the surrounding Savannah area. If you live within a 30-mile radius those students are not required to live on campus. They still have to file for an exemption. National research shows that students who live on campus have higher levels of satisfaction and connection with their college experience and do better academically. We hope more students choose to live on campus because of the friendships they will make as well. Students haven’t fully experienced college life until they have lived on a college campus. For more updates on the Windward Commons situation, check theinkwellonline.com

Fans will be curious to see how this iconic scene turns out in the upcoming live-action remake. Buena Vista Pictures.

movie with Factor’s Walk expected to be off limits for about five days.

Georgia has been the choice location for the filming of numerous TV shows and movies over the past couple of years, and Savannah has been involved in some of that action. Baywatch, The Do-Over and Dirty Grandpa are just a few such films. So if you’re downtown over the next couple months, be on the lookout for some of the cast and crew members that will be here for the remake of this Disney classic.

GusMart Not Open as Long as the Pantry?

- The Pirate Pantry had some pretty flexible hours for students in the past, but that seems to not be the case with the brand new GusMart.
- GusMart is not open on weekends. It is open from 8am to 8pm Monday through Friday while the Galley hours were extended. This is how it is constructed on the Statesboro campus, so the entire flagship operates under the same schedule.
- This poses an issue for some students with later classes because they now do not have the luxury of getting a late night snack while studying or heading back to their dorm. They have to go to the Galley for late night food, but to-go boxes are no longer offered either.
- To note, GusMart is looking to hire student employees as well so if you are looking for work, you have opportunities right on campus waiting for you.

SGA Details Amendments and Their Budget

- Several people received appointment to the Senate. Appointees received the title of Senator and Deputy Senator.
- Senator Nick Wright presented Senate Amendments 1 and 2. The first concerns the Senate budget and seeks to create a paper trail for accountability purposes.
- The second amendment, also presented by Senator Wright, concerned changes in the However, it does clear up some discrepancies in the current language of the articles. Both amendments are to be voted on next week.
- Yilnette N. Morales Núñez, Vice President of Finance, presented the proposed SGA Budget. The funds are built from a cap of just over $40,000.

gets chased by airplane.

This past July, some students were already introduced to the play as it was being performed for its original run of four nights, and although the turnout for the summer was great, the administrative staff saw fit to bring the play back for the fall so more of the student body could see it.

Not only are the cast members excited to perform again this fall, so is the larger student body.

Rashad Washington, a senior theatre major said, “I’ve been coming to plays by Armstrong for a while and I enjoy watching these moments.”

Jessica Sparks, a sophomore biology student said, “I’m excited to see what all the students have in store this year.”

Now that Armstrong has officially merged with Georgia Southern, the show is expected to have a great turnout.

So, grab a friend or roommate and enjoy the show!

Tickets are free for Georgia Southern students, faculty and staff with a valid I.D. General admission tickets are $12, with discounts available for military, seniors and children. Tickets can be purchased by calling 912-344-2801, visiting georgiasouthern.edu/armstrongtickets or by visiting the Fine Arts Box Office in the Fine Arts Hall.

There will also be an open meet-and-greet and auditions open to the entire student body for any student who wants to be in the upcoming show on Monday, Aug. 27 at 6 p.m. Stop by Jenkins Hall for more information as well as a brief list of upcoming shows.

The first play of the semester presented by the Masquers theatre group on campus will be “The 39 Steps.” Under the direction of associate professor of theatre, Dr. Peter Mellen, the play will be put on Thursday and again on Friday at 7:30 pm in the Jenkins Hall Mainstage Theatre. The play is a comedy-drama that will feature Armstrong students taking on a wide variety of roles. The play is described as “juicy spy novel meets Monty Python.”

This rendition of “The 39 Steps” is a reproduction of the 1935 comedy mystery film directed by Alfred Hitchcock, which entails the intense and fast-paced journey of an ordinary civilian as he stumbles into a huge conspiracy among a group of spies and encounters strange dilemmas along the way.

“It’s full-of-excitement drama and I hope comedy,” Mellen mentions.

Although the play was originally designed to have four cast members, Mellen has expanded the cast members, and thereby adding a little hint of flavor to the show. “Most people are playing multiple roles, which is one of the gimmicks of the play,” Mellen added. The original show has received two Tony and Drama Desk Awards for its non-stop laughs, incredible characters and hints of romance.

The cast and crew members wanted to give students a live production of the play while incorporating key theatre elements to keep audiences on their feet and intrigued in every moment.

Moreover, there will be many more intensifying moments. Some of which will include a daring chase on a train as well as a scene where one of the characters

Keeping the Tradition with an Unconventional Taste: Al Salaam Deli

By: Laura Weyman

“Al Salaam” an Arabic greeting which translates to “peace” or “may peace be upon you”, according to Meqbel Salameh, owner of Al Salaam Deli, this is what his business name translates to. He further explained that “Salaam” is the Arabic equivalent to Shalom in Hebrew, and just like Shalom, it is used as a greeting. He added, “That’s a good name to start with. We come in peace and we try to make things nice and easy for everybody.”

His roots originate from Jordan, but Salameh came to Savannah 27 years ago after living in New York and Raleigh, North Carolina previously.

In 2000, he opened the doors of this little corner joint on Habersham and 40th street.

Salameh wanted to bring the Savannah community, especially students, a healthy alternative to all of the junk food options that were around at the time.

Additionally, he wanted to bring downtown Savannah the true ethnic taste of falafel, babaganoush, hummus and gyros.

The women in his family play a big factor in his method of cooking.

When asked what inspired him to open up this restaurant, he responded, “My grandma and mother. I used to always watch them”.

Al Salaam has become a staple amongst the downtown Savannah community, but like Salameh, said, “People don’t come because of convenience. They come here because they like the food”.

“People don’t come because of convenience. They come here because they like the food” food”. He added, “people come here one time, and they always come back”.

His biggest clientele may be SCAD students, but Salameh encounters people from all over the country who stop by just to taste his lamb.

Al Salaam is known for its Gyros. Salameh stated, “The lamb we cannot keep. That’s what everybody is coming for.”

All of the meats served are Halal, and that brings in a huge crowd of Jewish and Muslim customers from all over the world.

Salameh even mentioned that he encounters many Armstrong nursing students that come through on their lunch break from working in the hospital.

Al salaam has won the Connect Savannah price for best Middle Eastern Restaurant for the past three years and has earned nearly 5 stars on Yelp, Google and TripAdvisor.

This little mom and pop shop caters to all. Whether you are a meat lover, vegetarian or vegan, there is a dish for you. So, if you have yet to taste Al Salaam’s food, be sure to stop by on your next downtown adventure and pop in to say hello to Meqbel and his wife, Rose.

Aries-(March 21-April 19) Don't get caught up in other's vexations, this will only slow you down and prevent you from reaching your goals. This week is all about self-reflection and cleaning up your environment. What changes do you want to see in the world, and how can you make them happen? Are there people in your life that are not supportive or conducive to your goals? Maybe it's time to let them go!

Taurus-(April 20-May 20) Now is the time for you to act! Make moves on what you have been meaning to do for a while. Pay attention to what you need to learn more about so that you can make what you have longed for finally happen. This week is a favorable time for you to network, so don't miss out on this opportunity!

Gemini- (May 21-June 20) In the next few days you may feel like you are finally gaining control over a situation in your home where you felt helpless previously. It's time to contribute to matters that are important to you, whether that deals with fighting for social issues, focusing on a passion or spending more time with loved ones. If you feel called to make a difference in your community, now is the time to join people you admire and start being the change you wish to see in your environment.

Cancer- (June 21-July 22) This is a good time in your life, and this week guarantees good communication. You will be practical and logical when dealing with your desires. You hold the "Triforce" this week, so use it to your advantage and take this time to harness your power, wisdom and courage [good one Laura (lol)] to conquer [cause Zelda is an adventure story] semester a little smoother.

Leo- (July 23-August 22) This week may demand a lot of extra work but it will make you advance greatly in your endeavors. These obstacles will make you progress professionally. People are a little more on edge this week, so make you sure you use tact when communicating with others. They may not be as open to your suggestions or criticism and they may even misinterpret your words, so take caution and don't take it too personally. Now is not a time to procrastinate.

Virgo- (August 23-September 22) It's time to let go of your toxic relationships and break free from the toxic environment around you. Communication is flowing freely. You are on top of it this week and have left behind last week's confusions. Enjoy this time of clarity and use it to make things happen!

Libra- (September 23-October 22) A lot of issues you have been struggling with will finally start resolving themselves. Of course, you will experience new difficulties but isn't this part of the fun? This life is all about problem solving. Depending on your perspective, you could see this as a defeat or embrace the challenge of this never ending puzzle. It's time to build strength and a firm structure, which will lessen the puzzle's difficulty.

Scorpio- (October 23-November 21) This week is all about new friends, new social relationships and new love interests. Saturn retrograde is breaking what was tying you down previously, whether that is self-doubt, a stressful job or a harmful relationship. It's making room for renewal and change!

Sagittarius- (November 22-December 21) You will find new ways to work this week which will make your semester and work life a lot easier. This will allow you to be more productive and reach your goals more rapidly. Be sure not to pass up this opportunity!

Capricorn- (December 22-January 19) It is a time for mental expansion. Have you been focused on others flaws lately? Remember that you can focus on others differences just as much as you can focus on each other's common grounds. Shift your lens angle to realize that you are not so different than the person next to you. Upon this realization, you will experience tremendous improvements in your home, school and work life.

Aquarius- (January 20 to February 18) It's a busy time for you, Aquarius. You're in for a surprise this week, and are in-bound more still, for better or for worse. Try to be more inclusive when it comes to your plans and your friends. Good will come your way if you take these actions.

Pisces- (February 19 to March 20) You may be feeling depleted, which means it's time to rest. Don't be too hard on yourself and dare to sleep in until 12 pm or longer this weekend. On the brighter side, there is an opportunity for a partnership to become more powerful or you may even form a new relationship. This could be platonic or romantic. It is time to eliminate boundaries and barriers—to get closer to things that are deeper so that you may find deeper friendships.
